What makes the high street living a world favourite?

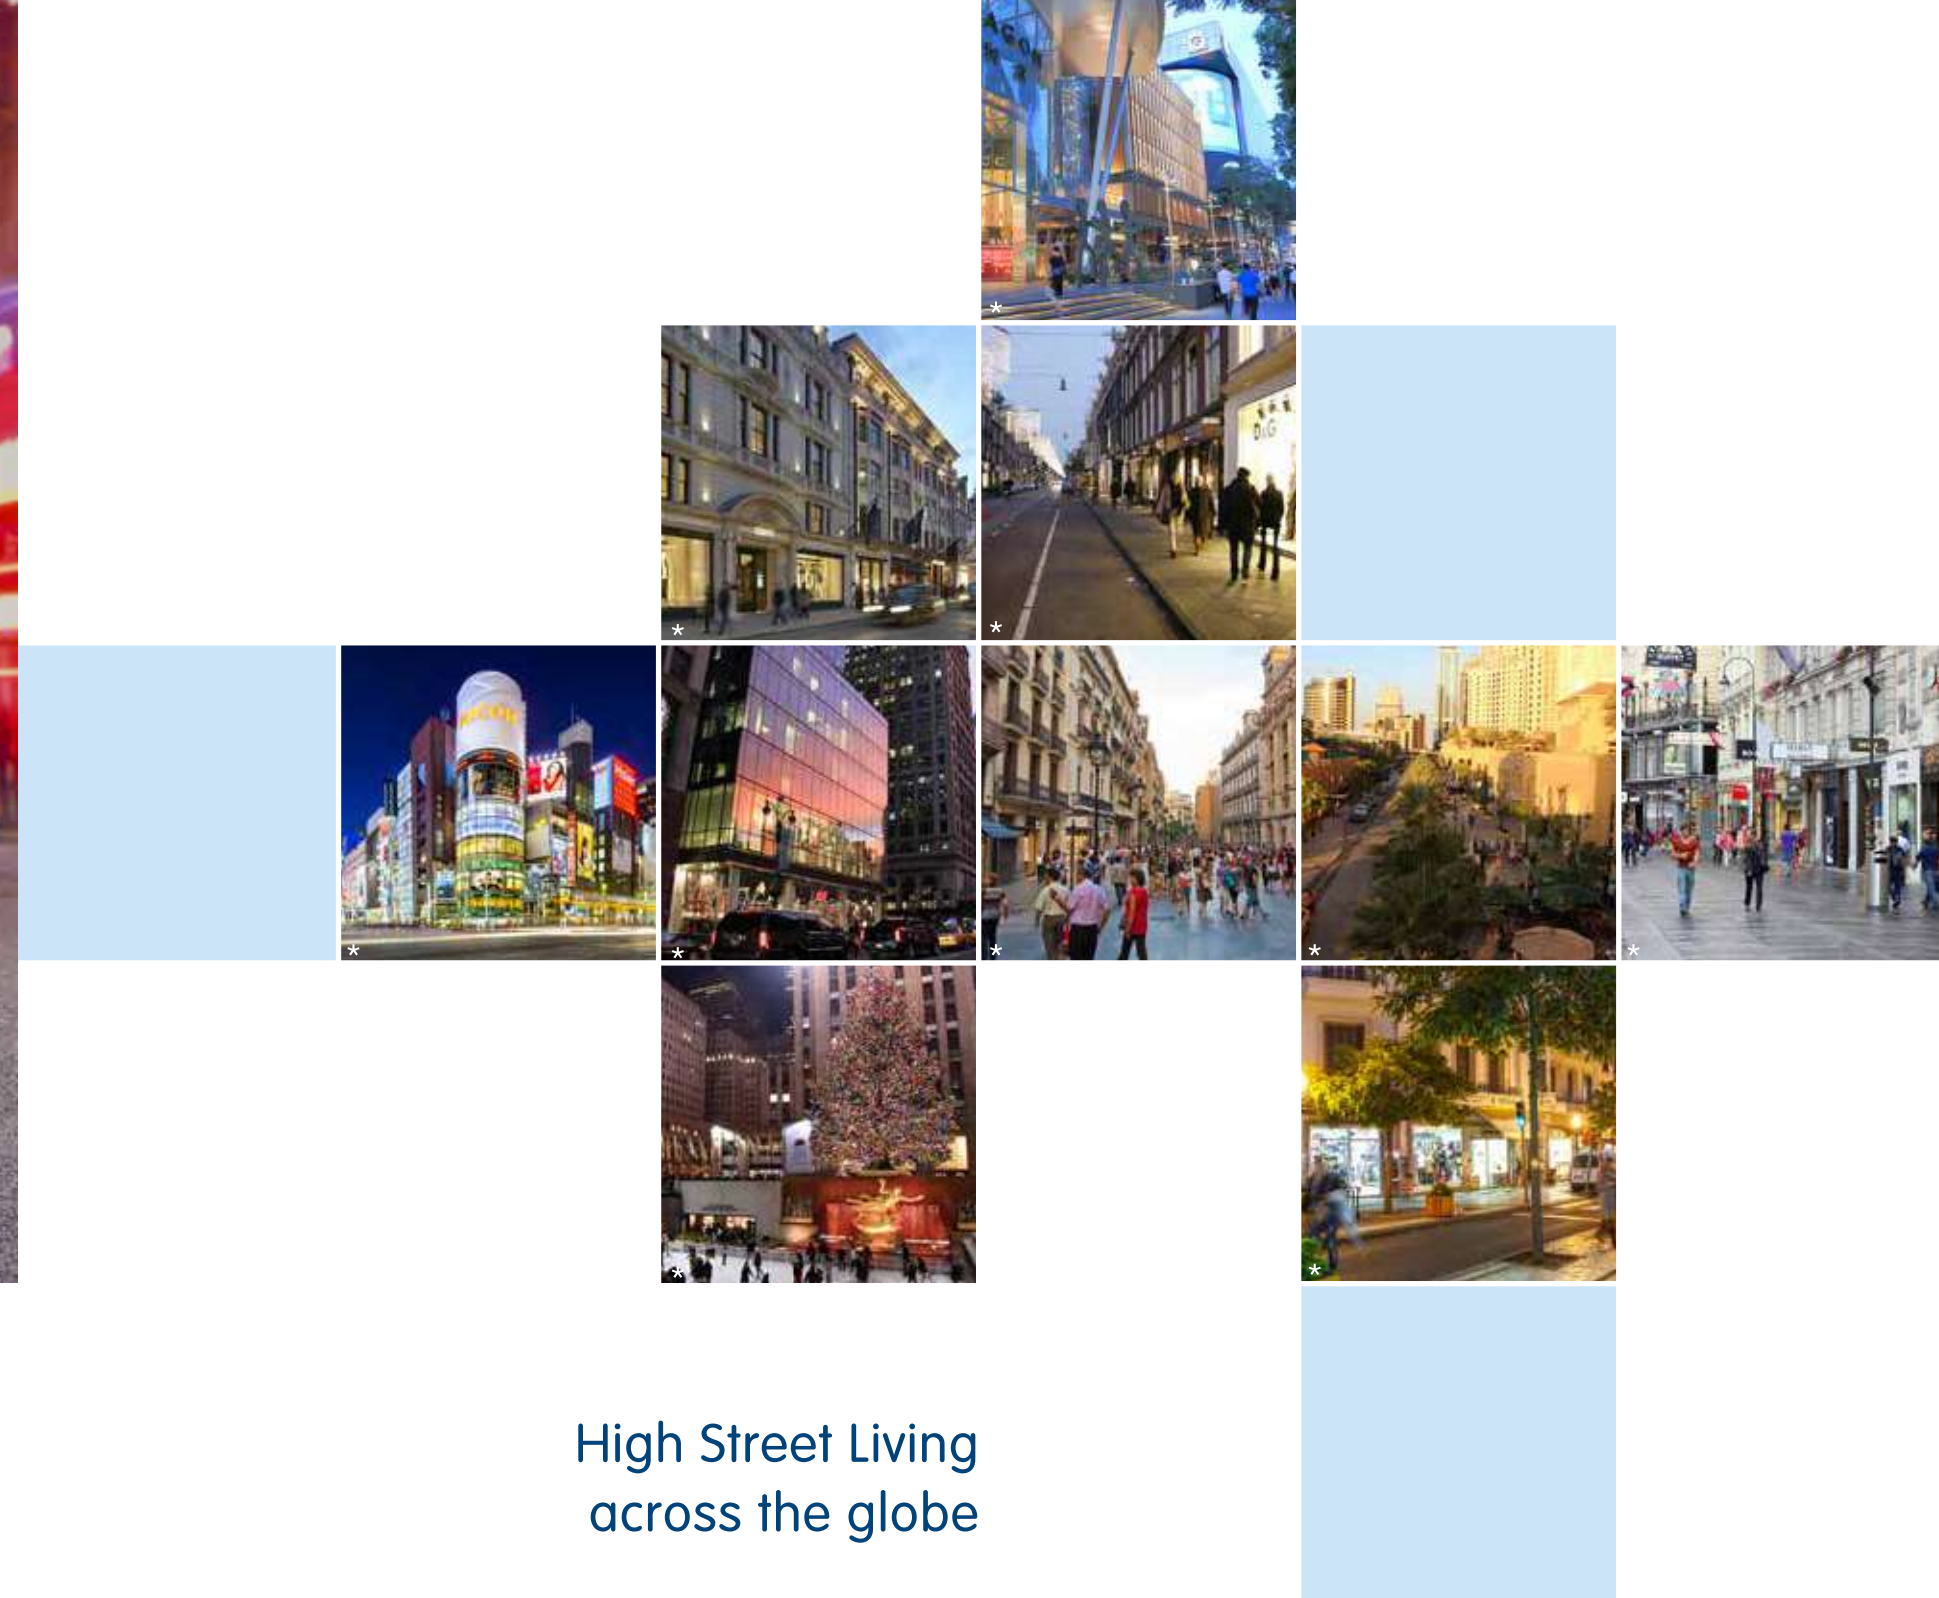

After USA and European countries, the high street living phenomenon has caught on in South East Asian and Middle East countries like Dubai, Singapore and Tokyo.

The ambience is the allure. High streets are set against the backdrop of landscaped gardens and water features. It is adorned with an excellent mix of specialised shops as well as delightful cafeterias and gourmet restaurants. Cultural activities and events, through performance artists and display art, add to their vibrancy.

A new concept in the story of grand living, Hiranandani introduces the first chapter of the international phenomenon in India, The Walk is all set to amaze the residents in Thane.

The residents of The Walk will definitely be a pampered lot.

Hiranandani Estate, Thane.

Spread over more than 250 acres of green landscape and created in harmony with Mother Nature, is Thane's biggest and finest planned community — Hiranandani Estate. Beyond Mumbai's concrete jungle and yet within city limits, Hiranandani Estate, Thane offers an advanced and affordable lifestyle for its residents — extravagant residential township centered on the concept of aristocratic living in Thane. Hiranandani recreated the magic of Powai and introduced Thane to a new chapter in ceremonial living.
